Governor Cleveland Formally Notified of his Nomination.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29.—The committee appointed to formally notify Governor Cleveland of his nomination for president met at 10 a. m., Colonel Vilas presiding, and arrangements for the notification were made, it being decided that the committee should visit the governor at three p. m.

The guests were prompt on arriving and when the members of the two committees were provided for there was very little extra space. The ceremony took place in the large handsome main parlor of the mansion. The ceremony was brief, but exceedingly impressive. The arrival of the committees in a body was the signal for concentration in the main parlor. There the committee of notification took positions on the south end of the room and the members of the national committee on the north. A space was reserved in the centre and as soon as the preparations were completed the governor entered through the main hallway, standing with his back to the flower banked mantel.

The ladies of the party stood near the governor at his left. His appearance at the doorway was the signal for a hearty and spontaneous outburst of handclapping which continued for several minutes. As soon as this had subsided, Col. W. F. Vilas, of Wisconsin, chairman of the late democratic national convention and of the notification committee, stepped slightly forward and addressing the governor in a clear resonant tone and with marked enthusiasm said:

"Grover Cleveland, Governor of the State of New York: These gentlemen my associates here present, whose voice I am honored with authority to utter, were a committee appointed by the national democratic convention recently assembled in Chicago and charged with the grateful duty of acquainting you officially, and in that solemn and ceremonious manner which the dignity and importance of the communications demand, with the interesting result of its deliberations, already known to you through the ordinary channels of news.

"Sir, that august body convened by direct delegation from the democratic people of the several states and territories of the republic, and deliberating under the witness of the greatest assembly of freemen ever gathered to such a conference in forethought of the election which the constitution imposes upon them to make during the current year, have nominated you to the people of these United Sates to be their president for the next ensuing term of that great office, and with grave consideration of its exalted responsibilities have confidently invoked their suffrages to invest you with its functions. Through this committee the convention's high requirement is delivered that you may accept that candidacy. This choice carries with it profound personal respect and admiration, but it has been in no manner the fruit of those sentiments. The national democracy seeks a president not in compliment for what the man is, or reward for what he has done, but in a just expectation of what he will accomplish as the true servant of a free people, fit for their lofty trust. Always of momentus consequence, they conceive the public exigency to be now of transcendent importance, that a laborious reform in the administration as well as legislation is imperatively necessary to the prosperity and honor of the republic and a competent chief magistrate must be of unusual temper and power. They have observed with attention your execution of the public trusts you have held, especially of that with which you are now so honorably invested. Their reliance for the usefulness of the service. They expect to exact for the benefit of the nation upon the evidence derived from the services you have performed for the state of New York. They invite the electors to such proof of character and competence to justify their confidence that in the nation as heretofore in the state the public business will be administered with commensurate intelligence and ability, with single hearted honesty and fidelity and with resolute and daring fearlessness which no faction, no combination, no power of wealth, no mistaken clamor can dismay or qualify. In the spirit of the wisdom and invoking the benediction of the Divine Creator of Men, we challenge from the sovereignity of this nation, His words in commendation and ratification of our choice. 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things.' In further fulfillment of our duty the secretary will present the written communication signed by the committee."

Colonel Vilas was several times interrupted by applause. At the close of his remarks Mr. Nicholas M. Prince, of Missouri, secretary of the committee, read the following formal address, prepared by the committee:

NEW YORK CITY, July 28, 1884.—To the Hon. Grover Cleveland, of New York—SIR: In accordance with a custom befitting the nature of the communication the undersigned, representthe several states and territories of the Union, were appointed a committee by the national democratic convention which assembled at Chicago on the 8th day of the current month to perform the pleasing office, which by this means we have the honor to execute, of informing you of your nomination as the candidate of the democratic party in the ensuing election for the office of president of the United States and the declaration of the principles upon which the democracy go before the people with a hope of establishing and maintaining them in the government was made by the convention, and an engrossed copy thereof is submitted in connection with this communication for your consideration. We trust the approval of your judgement will follow an examination of this expression of opinion and policy, and upon the controversy now made up, we invite your acceptance of the exalted leadership to which you have been chosen. The election of a president is an event of the utmost importance to the people of America; their prosperity, growth, happiness, peace and liberty, even may depend upon its wise ordering. Your unanimous nomination is proof that the democracy believe your election will most contribute to secure those great objects. We assure you that in the anxious responsibilities you must assume as a candidate you will have the steadfast and cordial support of the friends of the cause you will represent and in the execution of the duties of the high office which we confidently expect the wisdom of the nation will confer upon you, you may securely rely for approval and upon the patriotism, honor and intelligence of this free people, we have the honor to be with great respect."

The address is signed by W. F. Vilas, of Wisconsin, president; Nicholas M. Bell, of Missouri, secretary, and by forty-six members of the committee representing thirty-eight states and eight territories.

Governor Cleveland, who had stood meanwhile an intentive listener, replied as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee: Your formal announcement does not, of course, convey to me the first information of the result of the convention lately held by the democracy of the nation, and yet, when, as I listen to your message and see about me representatives from all parts of the land of the great party which, claiming to be the party of the people, asks them to entrust to it the administration of their government and when I consider, under the influence of the stern realities which the present surroundings create, that I have been chosen to represent the plans, purposes and policy of the democratic party, I am profoundly impressed by the solemnity of the occasion and by the responsibility of my position. Though I gratefully appreciate it, I do not at this moment congratulate myself upon the distinguished honor which has been conferred upon me, because my mind is full of an anxious desire to perform well the part which has been assigned to me. Nor do I at this moment forget that the rights and interests of more than 50,000,000 of my fellow citizens are involved in an effort to gain democratic supremacy. This reflection presents to my mind the consideration which more than all others gives to the action of my party in convention assembled its most sober and serious aspect. The party and its representatives which ask to be entrusted at the hands of the people with the keeping of what concerns their welfare and their safety should only ask it with the full appreciation of the sacredness of the trust and with a firm resolve to administer it faithfully and well.

"I am a democrat because I believe that this truth lies at the foundation of true democracy. I have kept the faith because I believe, if rightly and fairly administered and applied, democratic doctrines and measures will insure the happiness, contentment and prosperity of the people. If, in the contest upon which we now enter, we steadfastly hold to the underlying principles of our party creed, and at all times keep in view the people's good, we shall be strong because we are true to ourselves and because the plain and independent voters of the land will seek by their suffrages to compass their release from party tyranny, where there should be devotion to the people's interest. These thoughts lend a consecration to our cause and we go forth not merely to gain a partisan advantage, but pledged to give to those who trust us the utmost benefits of an honest administration of national affairs. No higher purpose or motive can stimulate to supreme effort or urge us to continuous and earnest labor and effective party organization. Let us not fail in this, and we may confidently hope to reap the full reward of patriotic services well performed. I have thus called to mind some simple truths, and trite though they are it seems to me we do well to dwell upon them at this time. I shall soon, I hope, signify in the usual formal manner my acceptance of the nomination which has been tendered to me. In the meantime I gladly greet you all as co-workers in a noble cause."

The governor spoke extemporeously and not without evidence of deep earnestness and feeling. He seemed to realize the weight of responsibility which rested upon his shoulders as the standard bearer of the party. The address was not only a model one in thought but was delivered with rare grace and effect.

The congratulations that were showered upon him by the many distinguished leaders of the party at the close were sincere and hearty. After sometime spent in social interchanges, the doors of the dining room were swung open and refreshments partaken of. An informal reception was held at the Fort Orange club on Washington street late in the afternoon.

MR. HENDRICKS' ABLE ADDRESS IN RESPONSE TO THE FORMAL INFORMATION OF HIS NOMINATION FOR VICE PRESIDENT, JULY 30TH.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee—I cannot realize that a man could even stand in the presence of a committee representing a more august body of men than which you represent. In the language of another the convention was large in numbers, august in culture and patriotic in sentiments, and may I not add to that, that because of power and greatness and the virtue of the party which it represented, in every respect a very great convention. [Applause.] The delegates came from all the states and territories and I believe, too, from the District of Columbia. (Applause.) They came clothed with authority to express judgement and opinion on all those questions which are not settled by constitutional law for the purpose of passing upon those questions and selecting a ticket for the people. That convention assembled. They decided upon the principles that they would adopt as a platform. They selected candidates that they would propose to the party their support and that the convention work was theirs. I have not reached the period when it is proper for me to consider the strength and force of the statements made in the platform. It is enough for me to know that it comes at your hands from that convention addressed to my patriotic devotion to the democratic party. [Applause.]

I appreciate the honor that is done me. I need not question that, but at the same time that I accept the honor from you and from the convention, I feel that the duties and responsibilities of the office rest upon me also. I know that sometimes it is understood that this particular office, that of vice president, does not involve much responsibility, and as a general thing that is so, but sometimes it comes to represent very great responsibilities and it may be so in the near future, for at this time the senate of the United States stands almost equally divided between the two great parties, and it may be that these two great parties shall so exactly differ that the vice president of the United States shall have to decide upon questions of law by the exercise of the casting vote. [Applause.] The responsibility would then become very great. It would not then be the responsibility of representing a state or a district. It would be the responsibility of representing the whole country, and that the vote when thus cast should be in obedience to the just expectations and requirements of the people of the United States. It might be, gentlemen, that upon another occasion the responsibilites would attach to this office, it might occur that under circumstances of some difficulty, I don't think it will be the next election, but it may occur under circumstances of some difficulty The president of the senate will have to take his part in counting of the electoral vote and also allow me to say that the duty is not to be discharged in obedience to any set of men or to any party, but in obedience to a higher authority. (Applause.)

Cleveland and Hendricks,

AND

Gentlemen, you have referred to the fact that I am honored by this nomination in a very special degree. I accept the suggestion that in this candidacy I will represent the right of the people to choose their own rulers, that right that is above, that lies beneath all, for if the people are denied the right to choose their own officers according to their own judgement what shall become of the rights of the people at all? What shall become of free government if the people select not their officers? Shall they control the laws, their administration and their execution? So that in suggesting that in this candidacy I represent that right of the people. As you have suggested a great honor has devolved upon me by the confidence of the convention. As soon as it may be convenient and possible to do so I will address you more formally in respect to the letter you have given me. I thank you gentlemen. [Applause.]

The Origin of Dixie.

On a Saturday night in 1859, when Dan Emmett was a member of Bryant's Minstrels, New York, Dan Bryant came to him and said: "Dan, can't you get us up a 'walk around?' I want something new and lively for Monday night." Dan went to work, and by Sunday afternoon he had the words commencing "I wish I was in Dixie." The expression was not Southern, but appeared among the circus people of the North. In early fall, when nipping frosts would overtake the tented wanderers, the boys would think of the warmth of the South, and the common expression would be, "Well, I wish I was in Dixie." This gave the catch-line, and the rest of the song was original. On Monday morning it was rehearsed and highly commended, and at night a crowded house caught up the refrain and half of them went home singing Dixie. The song became the rage, and W. W. Newcomb's Buckley's Minstrels and others gave Dan $5 each for the privilege of using it. Mr. Werlean wrote to Emmett to secure the copyright; but without waiting for a reply, published it with words by a Mr. Peters. Pond, of New York, secured it of Emmett for $600; but Werlean sold thousands of copies without giving him a nickel. Not only was Emmett robbed of the profits of his song, but the authorship of it. Pond brought the matter before a music publishers' convention, and settled the authorship; but Dan reaped no benefit from this tardy justice.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

AN ESSAY ON SLEEP.

R. K. Munkittrick, in Puck.

We believe it was Sancho Pedro who thought an all-wool blessing should be bestowed on the individual who first invented, filed a caveat for, and patented sleep.

This leads us to believe that Sancho had a level head, and was a man whose opinion was entitled to some respect.

Take a hen, for instance, and she will fall asleep right in the middle of a dusty road. And there that hen will sleep for hours and never move, except to skin her eye occasionally to see if there is any danger of being run over. And if she sees a wagon coming, she will pretend not to see it, and she will sleep right on until the wagon-wheel is within a few feet of her. And then she will suddenly jump up in a manner to show how annoyed she is, and stand on the side of the road and look at you, in mingled indignation and astonishment.

A dog will lie right in a doorway where people are traveling back and forth, and sleep for hours. He knows that if he is stepped on he will be hurt, and that if some one comes along and kicks him out of the doorway he will be bruised and made to feel uncomfortable. Yet, there he will lie and sleep, and dream the balmy dreams of innocent and unsophisticated doghood.

And, like the cat, he will lie close to the stove, and sleep by the hour, and never open his eyes unless he hears the carving knife being sharpened. And if the kettle boils over on him, or a lot of hot grease flies out of the pan, and takes handfuls of hair out of him, and leaves him looking like a crazy-quilt, yet will he return to the stove and make that his favorite sleeping-place again. A dog is so fond of sleeping when burglars are in the room at the dead of night.

In this respect the dog is not unlike the policeman, who is perhaps the greatest sleeper we have. He is so fond of sleep and its refreshing influence that he will climb noiselessly into a murky coal-box and stretch himself out on the coal, and fall into a sweet, long doze that nothing can break. There may be a murder within ten yards of where he is lying, and the cries of the murderer may be sharp enough to cut right through the toughest sinews of the toughest spring-chicken that was ever put on a table; but the policeman will sleep right on, his soul made rosy by the gentlest of gentle visions, and never open his eyes until the last star has melted in the sunlight.

When a man is traveling in a railway-train, he pushes aside the latest novel that is thrust at him by the enterprising train-boy, and closes his eyes upon the delightful landscapes that the railroad finds it profitable to advertise, lays the back of his head on the seat, draws his hat over his eyes, and makes every effort to get into dreamland. And, in spite of the jouncing and jolting of the train, he does fall asleep, and for the time is utterly unconscious of his debts and other tribulations.

And there he sleeps the sleep that is not disturbed by the bell, the whistle or the brakeman. It is is just the kind of rosy sleep that he can not get in a sleeper; for when he stretches out in a sleeper, or rather a waker, he does nothing but roll and toss about all night long. The only time he feels like sleeping is when it is time to rise in the morning. Then he is sleepy because he has exhausted himself by the rolling. After he has rolled in the sleeper all night, he could easily fall asleep on an osage-orange hedge, or barbed fence.

What is pleasanter than a good sleep on a cold Winter morning, when you know it is time to get up? Nothing that can be named surpasses the pleasure. Every fresh knock and 'Get up, now, the breakfast is getting cold, and it is after eight!' makes the bed seem more comfortable, as you draw your head under the covers, and gather yourself into a ball for a fresh nap of just a few seconds more.

And then there is the Sunday morning sleep, which is about the sweetest of all sweet sleeps. Because then you have plenty of time, and are not hampered by the bells and whistles that ring and blow on week-days to let mortal man know that it is time to rise and proceed to earn his daily cake. On Sunday morning you may close your shutters, and haul down the shades, and make the room so dark that you may sleep right along until your head is small enough to fit your hat, and then it will be about three in the afternoon, and time for breakfast.

Swinging in a hammock out among the honeysuckles, or between two old apple-trees, on a quiet afternoon, is not the worst way in the world of getting into slumberland. As you lie there looking up through the branches at the fleecy clouds floating along, and try to make fanciful figures cut of them, such as snow-men smoking pipes, and patriarchs dancing on smoke, and beautiful Circassian women floating about on vapory couches, etc., you are lulled to sleep by the hum of insects, and the song of birds, and the airy rustle of the leaves, stirred by the breeze that keeps you in a gentle swaying motion. And when you wake you have the impression of the netting buried about an inch deep in your face, and leave the impression of your head on the ground just where you landed when you fell out.

And then there is the sleep of boyhood. The sleep that every man would like to sleep over again. The sweet, undisturbed sleep in which the boy dreams about the orchard in which the reddest apples grow; and the best receipt for bird-lime; and the best way to swap—'fen seein's'—the handsome and attractive knife-handle with no blades in it for the superior knife of a companion. The gentle ten-hour-without-stopping sleep, wherein he lives his exploits over again, and falls out of the cherry-tree, and is chased by the farmer, and goes over a cascade on a raft; and fires a gun into a hornets' nest, and sets off fire-crackers close to the old Shanghai rooster. Ah! what are so sweet as those dreams of boyhood? Tender dreams, that are only disturbed when the boy is lifted out of bed by the ear, and hurried down-stairs to chop the wood that he forgot to chop last night. There is nothing on earth so sweet, unless it be the sleep of the baby; because the baby can sleep all night and all day and never has to get up. And the baby can never have unpleasant things of this world. And if the baby wakes up, and cries or becomes tired out, it is immediately put to sleep again. It dosn't have to go to sleep itself, but is actually put to sleep. And then every effort is made to keep it asleep as long as possible. Ah, if we could only be put to sleep, in this cruel work-a-day world, and have some one to lie around and allow no one to come near and disturb our repose—then would the hackman lie down with the tourist, the plumber with the landlord. But if we should ever have to be put to sleep, we should prefer to have it done through the medium of a good old brandy eggnogg.

Kisses to Grow on.

She was only a baby, but she held up her sweet red lips, shut the bright eyes and went the rounds from one member of the family to another, repeating the phrase she had just heard from her young mother's lips,

"Three kisses, and one to grow on."

They caught her up, the darling, and kissed and kissed her fair baby face, pulled the soft curls, squeezed the dimpled shoulders, and followed her every movement with wistful, worshiping eyes, until she came to the sour, disappointed member of the family, whose words were all hollow, and dolls stuffed with sawdust. She tiptoed up to the stern, bearded face, and put a fat, chubby little hand on each unyielding knee.

"Three kisses, and one to grow on."

'What does all this tomfoolery mean?' inquired the gruff, grumpy voice.

'Baby is three years old to-day,' said the young mother, feeling how hard it is to explain a simple, foolish custom that has no particular meaning, 'and so we give her a kiss for each year and one to grow on. But you needn't kiss her Uncle Ben, if you don't want to.'

What was it the old man saw in the limpid eyes lifted to his?—a vision of the green fields and still waters of paradise? or did some prescient knowledge possess him, that he caught her up in his arms as he had never done before, and kissed her again and again?

'Not want to kiss her?' he said, in a broken voice, 'why, I should as soon think of refusing to kiss an angel from heaven. There! pet; there! and there! Now may you grow on this one even to the heights of heaven—never short of their standard, little one. That is the old man's prayer.'

Three kisses and one to grow on;' three short and beautiful years, and now—

Her age I cannot tell,
For they reckon not by months and years
Where she has gone to dwell.'

But I often wonder if we would not all reach nearer the gates of paradise if we had more kisses to grow on.

'To the height of the sinless angels
The little one has grown.'

Oh! great family of humanity, learn all your weary, wandering ones up the divine heights by kisses. They are stronger than blows; they have no stings like bitter words; they are blessed memories that blossom in our crown of thorns when those whom we kissed have gone from us a little way beyond tears and kisses; grown on the precious nourishment into the higher life, in the city whose builder and maker is God.

The Democratic voters of Centre county will meet at the regular places of holding the general election for their districts, on to elect delegates to the Democratic County Convention. Under the rules the election will open at 2 o'clock p. m. and close at 6 p. m.

The delegates chosen at the above time will meet in the Court House, Bellefonte, on Tuesday, August 12, 1884, at 2 p. m.,

to name one candidate for President Judge and one candidate for Congress, each of whom shall be subject to the decision of the conferences of their respective districts; to choose such conferees as may be deemed necessary, and to nominate one candidate for Associate Judge; two candidates for Assembly; one candidate for Sheriff; one candidate for Prothonotary; one candidate for Treasurer; one candidate for Register; one candidate for Recorder; two candidates for County Commissioners; two candidates for Auditor; and to transact such other business as the interests of the party may require.

The number of delegates to which each district is entitled is as follows:

P. GRAY MEEK,
Chairman Dem. Co. Committee.
J. C. MEYER, Secretary.

THE fairest step that could be taken by the congressional candidates in the other counties would be to withdraw in favor of Gov. Curtin. If they want to be just they must acknowledge that our Andy is the most capable in the lot and that his work during his past term has fully proved it. Why make a change, when we can hardly better ourselves?

Withdrawal.

HON. H. MEYER, of Rebersburg, informs us by letter that he has concluded to withdraw from the canvass and orders his name to be taken off the list of candidates for assembly.

EX-SPEAKER J. Warren Keifer, of Ohio, will bid farewell to Congress for good on the fourth of March next. He wanted to be renominated very bad and wanted to go back to Washington, but the people of his own city (Springfield) and of his own county gave his opponent Captain Bushwell, the preference. Bushwell carried every ward in the city and the county by a majority of 500. That ends Keifer's political career, which was by no means a clean one, and consequently there is very little mourning over his downfall.

—NO ONE, better than the mothers, knows the amount of persuasion, threatenings and force required to induce the children to take, when necessary, a dose of the nauseating, sickening worm syrups; and no one more highly appreciates the virtues of McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders. So pleasant and easy to take, so effective as a worm destroyer, the dose so small that the children never know that they are taking a medicine. There is nothing in the shape of vermifuge that can compare with them. Don't be deceived. Take no other. Money refunded to dissatisfied buyers.

Campaign Lies.

Some of the Blaine organs are indulging in this kind of writing, for the simple reason that they are at a loss what to say against Cleveland and his political career. Still they deem it their duty to attack him in some way, so they get up slanderous and malicious lies about Cleveland's morality, in order to deceive the decent class of voters in the land. That notorious lie started by the Buffalo (N. Y.) Telegraph, a contemptible little sheet, was of course eagerly taken up by other republican Blaine journals, of the smaller calibre, and was used to soil Cleveland's character and cover up some of Blaine's spots. But such dirty and undecent statements are of no consequence and that sort of literature rather helps to elevate than harm Cleveland, because any logically thinking man will at once take such tales for what they are worth. The trouble is, Cleveland's aggressive campaign is a thorn in the eyes of Blaine papers and the only way they have to give vent to their displeasure is to throw mud at the unblemished character of the democratic candidate for President.

The following articles clipped from the Harrisburg Patriot show how little truth there was in that vile slander which some of the Republican papers, who stooped low enough for such business, circulated:

The Buffalo Lie.

The following which explicitly explains itself, is of vital interest just now, as it completely demolishes the scandalous lies which have been paraded for several days by the Blaine organs with shameless indecency. It is an answer to a private letter sent from this city:

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 27.—DEAR SIR: Yours of the 24th inst., received, and we thank you for your manifested interest in Goy. Cleveland's behalf. With reference to the reports about Governor Cleveland, you can say, and you will tell the positive truth every time you say it, that the story over "Rev." Ball's signature, and the other reports about Cleveland's immorality, are absolutely false. The "Rev." Ball was an ardent supporter of Cleveland during the gubernatorial campaign, and was paid for his work. We understand, however, that he was disappointed about some position, hence the "flop" and dirty work unbecoming any man, whether he wears the cloth or not. "Rev." Ball's article has no weight in this place, where he is known. The story as published is false, absolutely so, and will be met in due time. Cleveland will carry Buffalo by 5,000 to 8,000 majority, and New York state by at least 25,000, and in all probability considerably more. He is a man whose social or public life has never been marred to prevent his associating with and having the confidence of the best people in Buffalo, and if elected, which he surely will be, the United States will have an upright, honest, fearless president. Yours truly, C. W. McCUNE,
President Courier Company.

A Slander Squelched.

The Buffalo Express, the republican Blaine organ at Buffalo, the home of Governor Cleveland, publishes the following editorially:

1. The Express adheres to every good word it then (when he was nominated) said with respect to the candidate's life and record.

2. What we can say, passed upon our information and judgement, is this: We do not believe that the charges are, in any just sense of the word, true.

3. The Telegraph (the little paper printing the slander) has had bitter cause ere this to regret its publication of scandalous matter which it could not prove, and we think that its editor has learned heretofore how hard it is in this city even to get bail in a prosecution for criminal libel.

4. We did advise everybody who could to vote for Mr. Cleveland for mayor of Buffalo and for governor of New York. We have never regretted doing so, and do not now regret his election to those places.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5, 1884.

Your correspondent was in New York a day or two in the early part of the week, and took occasion to look around among the politicians a little. It is interesting to note the difference in the character and methods of those who are managing the campaign in behalf of the two Presidential candidates. The frequenters of Republican headquarters are such men as Conover, of Florida, Elkins, of star route connections, the sweet-scented Spencer, of Alabama, who cut such a figure in carpetbag days and more recently as a fugitive from legal process during the star route trials, Powell Clayton whom the National Convention repudiated for chairman before the respectable element left the party, together with a few other such characters. Dorsey is not at present there in person, but undoubtedly is in spirit, as is his old pal Brady whose Washington organ grinds itself hoarse for Blaine. This is a fair illustration of the element that is managing Blaine's canvass—the men who really want him for President. The methods and devices resorted to are characteristic of his crowd. False pretense, humbug and bold use of corcupt means are relied upon for success. The only possible hope for Blaine is in some direct or indirect aid from Kelly, Butler & Co. There never was a political campaign in this country which came nearer being a direct contest between the honest and respectable people on one hand, and all the corrupt trading and disreputable elements on the other. The issue can hardly be in doubt. Elkins says "it is largely a question of finance," thus hinting at a repitition of the Dorsey and Arthur "soap" campaign of 1880; but we shall see.

PHONO.

DEMOCRATIC RULES.

The following rules are furnished for the guidance of members of the County Committee in holding the Delegate Elections on Saturday, August 9, 1884:

1. The Democratic County Convention of Centre county shall be composed of one delegate for every fifty Democratic votes polled at the Presidential or Gubernatorial election next preceding the convention. The allotment of delegates in the several election districts in the county shall be made by the Standing Committee of the county at its first meeting in every alternate year succeeding the Presidential and Gubernatorial elections and shall be in proportion to the Democratic votes cast in each district at such elections.

2. The election of delegates to represent the different districts in the annual Democratic County Convention shall be held at the usual place of holding the general elections for each district, on the Saturday preceding the second Tuesday of August in each and every year, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m. on said day and continuing until six o'clock p. m. The delegates so elected shall meet in County Convention in the Court House, at Bellefonte, on the Tuesday following at two o'clock p. m.

3d. The said delegate elections shall be held by an election board, to consist of the member of county committee for each district and two other Democratic voters thereof, who shall be appointed or designated by the County Committee. In case any of the persons so constituting the board shall be absent from the place of holding the election for a quarter of an hour after the time appointed by Rule First for the opening of the same, his or their place or places shall be filled by an election, to be conducted viva voice, by the Democratic voters present at that time.

4th. Every qualified voter of the district, who at the late general election voted the Democratic ticket, shall be entitled to vote at the delegate election; and any qualified elector of the district who will pledge his word of honor to support the Democratic ticked at the next general election shall be permitted to vote at the delegate elections.

5th. The voting at all delegate elections shall be by ballot; upon each ballot shall be written or printed the name or names of the delegate or delegates voted for, together with any instructions which the voter may desire to give the delegate or delegates. Each ballot shall be received from the person voting the same by a member of the election board, and by him deposited in a box or other receptacle provided for that purpose, to which box or other receptacle no person but members of the board shall have access.

6th. No instructions shall be received or recognized unless the same be voted upon the ballot as provided in Rule Fourth, nor shall such instructions if voted upon the ballot be binding upon the delegates, unless one-half or more of the ballots shall contain instructions concerning the same office. Whenever half or more of the ballots shall contain instructions concerning any office, the delegates elected at such elections shall be held to be instructed to support the candidates having the highest number of votes for such office.

7th. Each election board shall keep an accurate list of the names of all persons voting at such elections, when the list of voters together with a full and complete return of such election, containing an accurate statement of the persons elected delegates and all instructions voted, shall be certified by said board to the county convention upon printed blanks to be furnished by the county committee.

8th. Whenever from any district qualified Democratic voters, in numbers equal to five times the delegates which such district has in the county convention, shall complain in writing of an undue election or false return of delegates or of instructions, in which complaints the alleged facts shall be specifically set forth and verified by the affidavit of one or more persons, such complainants shall have the right to contest the seat of such delegates or the validity of such instructions. Such complaint shall be heard by a committee of five delegates to be appointed by the president of the convention; which said committee shall proceed to hear the parties, their proofs and allegations, as soon as may be reported to the convention what delegates are entitled to seats therein, and what instructions are binding upon such delegates. Whereupon the convention shall proceed immediately upon the call of the yeas and nays to adopt or reject the report of the contesting parties; in which call of the yeas and nays the names of the delegates whose seats are contested or whose instructions are disputed shall be omitted.

9th. All delegates must reside in the district they represent. In case of absence or inability to attend, substitutions may be made from citizens of the district.

10th. Delegates must obey instructions given them by their respective districts, and, if violated, it shall be the duty of the president of the convention to cast the vote of such delegate or delegates in accordance with the instructions, and the delegate or delegates so offending shall be forthwith expelled from the convention, and shall not be eligible to any office or place of trust in the party for a period of two years.

11th. In the convention, a majority of all voters shall be necessary to a nomination; and no person's name shall be excluded from the list of candidates until after the third ballot or vote when the person receiving the least number of votes shall be omitted and struck from the roll, and so on at each successive vote until a nomination be made.

12th. If any person who is a candidate for any nomination before a county convention shall be proven to have offered or paid any money, or other valuable thing, or made any promise of a consideration or reward to any delegate for his vote, or to any person with a view of inducing or securing the votes of delegates, or if the same shall be done by any other person with the knowledge and consent of such candidate, the name of such condidate shall be immediately stricken from the list of candidates; or if such fact be ascertained after his nomination, shall be struck from the ticket and the vacancy supplied by a new nomination and in either case, such person shall be ineligible to any nomination by the convention, or to an election as a delegate thereafter. And in case it shall be alleged after the adjournment of the convention that any candidate put in nomination has been guilty of such acts or of any other fraudulent practices to obtain such nomination, the charges shall be investigated by the county committee, and such steps taken as the good of the party may require.

13th. If any delegate shall receive any money or other valuable thing, or accept the promise of any consideration or reward to be paid, delivered or secured to him or to any person for such candidate, as an inducement for his vote, upon proof of the fact to the satisfaction of the convention, such delegats shall be forthwith expelled, and shall not be received as a delegate to any further convention, and shall be ineligible to any party nomination.

14th. Cases arising under the 8th, 12th and 13th rules shall have precedence over all other business in convention until determined.

15th. That the term of the chairman of the county committee shall begin on the first day of January of each and every year.

16th. That the delegates from the several boroughs and townships be authorized, in conjunction with the chairman of the county committee, to appoint the members of the committee for the various boroughs and townships.

—Next—the oats harvest.

—Sheriff's Sales appear in this week's issue.

—The dog days will end on the 30th of this month.

—The cholera in France is reported on the decrease.

—Read Jacob Snavely's caution notice in another column.

—Editor Kurtz, of the Centre Hall Reporter, called to see us on Monday.

—Potatatoes and corn are making up for lost time since the recent rains.

—Our neighbor, Mr. Jacob Keen, is afflicted with a sore foot caused from a cut.

—J. W. Snook is painting the outbuildings or his fine property on Penn street.

—Quite a number of town folks were to the lecture at Aaronsburg last Saturday.

—Look out for a lively time next Saturday. Delegate election at two o'clock, P. M.

—Mrs. Jonthan Harter is confined to her sickbed, but is somewhat better at this writing.

—Several of our citizens speak of attending the county convention at Bellefonte next Tuesday.

—Since its completion, Dr. A. W. Hafer's new portico, Penn street, is about the fanciest in town.

—Wm. B. Mingle and L. A. Shaffer, both candidates for Prothonotary called on us on Tuesday.

—President Judge Hoy spent a couple days in town, pleasantly chatting with many of our citizens.

—Mrs. W. T. Mauck was on the sicklist with an attack of inflamation of the bowels. She is convalescing.

Address NUNDA PUBLISHING Co., Nunda, N. Y. 28-3m.

SUDDEN DEATH AT MADISONBURG.—Mr. Samuel Gardner, a gentleman from Lock Haven, died at Madisonburg, on Thursday afternoon, almost immediately after his arrival in that town. Having been subject to consumption, he was in the habit of frequently riding out on Mosher's beer wagon, with Mr. John Lose, also of Lock Haven, for the benefit of his health. He started away from Lock Haven that morning apparently in fair health and feeling quite well throughout the day. They reached Madisonburg at about 3 o'clock, p. m. Driving up in front of the hotel the subject of this notice jumped off the wagon, remarking that he was very hungry and ordered a speedy dinner. But landing on the ground he took to coughing and heavy hemorrhages and setting down on a chair on the porch of the hotel, he requested the landlord to immediately procure the help of a physician, as he had fears of his end. His wish was at once acted out, but before the doctor could reach the scene, the patient had expired, not more than fifteen minutes having passed from the time of his arrival. He was taken into the house, where his body received proper attention. His remains were placed into an ice box and taken to Lock Haven that night by John G. Shafer and George Kidder, of Madisonburg. The affair created an intense sensation in that quiet little village.

We are told the Mr. Moyer, the kind-hearted landlord of the Madisonburg hotel, proved himself a "Good Samaritan" by doing everything in his power to lend assistance on this sad occasion.

Deceased was twenty-four years of age and his parents and relations, residing at Lock Haven doubtless are sadly grieved at the untimely death of their son and brother.

—BOILS, pimples, skin grubs, black maggots, eruptions, scaly skin, &c., indicate poisoned blood, and besides being disagreeable to you, afflicted reader, they are unpleasant to your friends and those compelled to come in contact with you; you owe it as a duty to your health and your friends to take a bottle or two of McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative, and be more pleasant and agreeable to look at. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers,

Sold by J. Eisenhuth, Millheim, Pa.

—Chairman Hensel's new "Post" is on our table, and as a political informer is almost indispensible. It will certainly be a strong agent in furthering the democratic cause in this state during the campaign.

—Mr. F. O. Hosterman, our local sewing machine agent, runs a fine new wagon, which he had made for the express purpose of delivering the improved Leader Sewing Machine to purchasers.

—Rev. John Tomlinson, pastor of the Aaronsburg Lutheran charge, has resigned his position and accepted a call from the Luth. church at Abbottstown, Adams county, Pa., to which place he will move by September 1st. He will make public sale of his personal effects, at the pastorage at Aaronsburg, on Saturday, August 30th, at one o'clock, p. m.

—ANY HOUSEKEEPER who sends at once the names of five married ladies, at same address, and 12 two-cent stamps for postage, will receive free for one entire year, a handsome, entertaining and instructive Domestic Journal, devoted to Fashions, Fancy Work, Decorating, Shopping, Cooking, and Household matters. Best Paper published for Ladies. Every Housekeeper wants it. Regular price, $1.00. Must send now! Address DOMESTIC JOURNAL,

28-3m Nunda, N. Y.

—Dinges, Trumpfheller & Co. are the successors to Dinges, Vonrda & Co., at Coburn. With the advantages of Mr. Trumpfheller's experience of over fourteen years in the mercantile business, supplemented to the already successful management of the former firm, we predict for the citizens of this section a business of unsurpassed facilities and a store which will carry anything and everything in their line.

—One of the finest lectures ever delivered in this neighborhood was the one by Gen. B. Frank Fisher of Philadelphia, in the Reformed church at Aaronsburg. That gentleman has a very pleasant and fascinating way of talking and handles the subject of his lecture with the warmth which only personal experience and feeling can lend to a speaker. He held his large audience spell-bound for nearly an hour and a half and every body seemed sorry when the speaker closed his remarks.

—A number of our town people wend their way every morning to Coburn to take the early train for a blackberry excursion in the mountains. They generally return in the evening with buckets and baskets filled with that delicious fruit, which is said to be quite plenty.

On Tuesday morning 56 tickets were sold at Coburn station to berrying people.

—As a sure remedy for Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Torpid Liver, Biliousness &c., no medicine is equal to Dr. Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. N. H. Downs' Elixir is the oldest and best cough remedy in existence. Bruises, scalds, burns, sprains, cuts, &c., either on man or beast, are speedily cured by the use of Henry & Johnson's Arnica and Oil Liniment.

For Sale at Spigelmyer's,
Millheim and Madisonburg.

NOTICE.—The Sunday Schools of Millheim are hereby requested to appoint three delegates on next Sunday, who shall meet as representatives of their respective schools on Saturday, Aug 16th in the Ev. church, for the purpose of discussing and arranging for a grand Union Picnic of all the schools of town in the near future. The plan has been agitated by several gentlemen of the different schools, who have requested us to publish this notice.

We hope the members of our Sunday schools will give this project a hearty reception, as we feel confident that a picnic of this kind will make a very enjoyable affair and a happy day for the little folks.

Woodward Sharps.

All kinds of Drugs carried in our drug department. Prescriptions filled by experienced salesmen. Also a full line of Patent Medicines always on hand.

All summer goods such as Light Shawls, Lap Robes, Fine Lawns and many other articles too numerous to mention sold AT COST.

A full line of Rubber Goods just received, which will positivily be sold at the very lowest market figures.

We carry a full line of Canned Fruit which we are selling off at ROCK BOTTOM PRICES.

During this pleasant season we have always a full supply of Fresh Green Groceries, such as cabbage, Tomatoes, Melons, Roasting Ears, Peaches, Apples, etc.

We can also accommodate customers with good Country Lard, Sugar Cured Hams and splendid Shoulders.

Pure Apple Juice Vinegar just received from New York. The best made.

Remember—Country Produce buys goods just as cheap as cash and we always pay the highest home market prices for produce.

The question arises, "Why we are selling goods so low?" We answer—First, because we bought the stock at a figure which enables us to sell low and still have a reasonable profit. Secondly, we want to make room for an immense fall stoch. Thirdly, because we buy all our goods for cash, and consequently get our goods cheaper than parties who buy on credit. We give our customers the benefit of the discounts made by cash purchases and all this together enables us to consistently keep up the reputation of the BARGAIN STORE.

N. B. Our goods are always fresh, as our drayage man takes them directly from the cars and at once delivers them at our store.

Very respectfully,
D. S. KAUFFMAN & Co.

—The band is about to order a new head wear in the shape of helmets. They are a progressive set and are bound to make an imposing appearance when in parade. There is a likelyhood of their attendance at the G. A. R. encampment at Bellefonte, week after next.

—The new Evangelical church at this place is being rapidly pushed ahead. Ths site selected is a splendid one, situated on Penn street and almost in the centre of town. Two towers will adorn the edifice and the whole structure will be built in the Gothic style. The foundation walls are nearly completed and the heavy lumber for the floor work is being hauled. In a few weeks the brick layers will be at work and it is likely that the building will be under roof before winter sets in.

Spring Mills Items.

J. W. Shook and lady, of Harrisburg, are here visiting friends.

G. A. Runks have a good many visitors from the eastern cities.

Mr. Jacob Wyle is badly crippled up with rheumatism. He is confined to the house. BRACE & Co.

—TESTIMONIALS many times are cut from the whole cloth, and for every one voluntarely given in praise of a meritorious article an unscrupulous and dishonest manufacturer can write up a dozen for his worthless products; but the following card from the traveler of Sower, Potts & Co, a publishing house known in almost every state in the Union, is so emphatic and to the point that we cannot refrain from giving it in evidence:

"Georgetown, Pa.

J. A. McDonald, Dear Sir:—Please forward by express at once one bottle Curtis' Carmelite Cordial to C. F. Camp, Esq., Stroudsburg, Monroe Co, Pa. It cured me so quickly and completely last summer that I reccommend it highly to all my friends."

Single bottle guaranteed to cure any case cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera morbus, summer complaint, cramps or any intestinal irritation whatever, or money refunded in every instance. Should have a place in every household and every traveller's satchel.

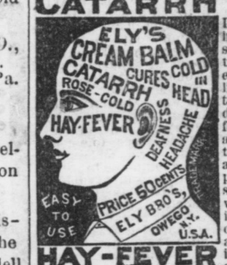
CATARRH Hay Fever



HAY-FEVER

Is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a painful burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of blinding headache, a wattery and inflamed state of the eyes.

Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy founded on a correct diagnosis of this disease and can be depended upon. 50 cts. at druggists; 60 cts. by mail. Sample bottle by mail 10 cts. ELY BROS, Druggists, Owego, N. Y.

I recommend to those suffering (as I have) with Hay Fever, Ely's Cream Balm. I have tried nearly all the remedies, and give this a decided preference over them all. It has given me immediate relief.—C. T. STEPHENS, Hardware Merchant, Ithaca, N. Y.

Trying to Beat Nature.

Artificial Flowers Made in the Twinkle of an Eye—How the Girls are Paid.

'No, sir, that is only imitation,' said a New York Mail and Express reporter who had raised a Jacqueminot rose to his nose. 'Several persons have thought it was real,' he continued; 'well; it is one of the best specimens I have ever seen.'

'It must be a delicate business manfacturing these flowers ?'

'Very, and a business that has improved considerably during the last few years. Nearly all the flowers used here are manufactured in this country.'

'Can you explain how you transform ordinary muslin into such delicate looking flowers ?'

'Certainly. Step into the factory. I will show you every part of the performance. Step this way;' and the reporter was shown into a long room which presented a busy appearance. Seated at a long table that extended down the centre of the room, were fifteen or twenty girls all busy clipping and cutting muslin, and fastening it with wires in various ways, presenting as it were by sleight of hand, some lovely rose or delicate lily.

It used to be the custom to manufacture the floral designs from a material called chiffon, but that is too expensive an article to compete in the present market, so ordinary Victoria lawn is substituted. This is first of all soaked in water to shrink it and then stretched on a frame to dry. When dry it is folded so as to make about sixteen thicknesses and it is ready to cut for any flower we want.

'Now suppose we make the most popular decoration of the presect day, the snowball,' said the manufacturer, and he took a scollop, circle-shaped steel die and cut out of the muslin sixteen pieces at each blow of the mallet. The pieces were placed in alcohol and tinged in the centre to give them the natural tint of the flower. After drying them, each of the scallops is twisted and about twelve pieces strung together by passing a wire through the centre. A little paste is added and in less time than it takes to relate, the snow ball is ready to adorn some lady's bonnet.

'What are the most difficult flowers to manufacture ?'

'Well, the rose, I suppose, or the mignonette. All those that have fine petals cause more or less trouble. The manufacture of leaves is a little different. They are cut in a similar way out of green muslin and then put in a press to stamp on the veins. The color is put on with a stencil and dyes, and each leaf is dipped into wax and dried. Every leaf and petal is handled separately, so that will give you an idea of the work accomplished. Fashions are constantly changing and prices vary from twenty cents to $2.50 a flower.'

'Are not the dyes used very injurious ?'

'Not at all. Paris green was used in the old times, but now it is dispensed with and ordinary aniline dyes substituted. Wages ? Some people have an idea that girls barely earn a living. We pay three cents a gross for stamping leaves. That appears very little when you know every leaf is stamped separately, but an accomplished hand will stamp fifteen or twenty gross in an hour, and working nine hours a day will give about $4. No bad pay, eh ?'

Sauer-Kraut.

This is the way in which sauerk raut is made in Strasburg, Germany. They slice very white and firm cabbages in fine shreads with a machine made for that purpose. At the bottom of a small barrel they place a layer of coarse salt, and alternately layers of cabbage and salt, being careful to have one of salt on the top. As each layer of cabbage is added, it must be pressed down by a large and heavy pestle, and fresh layers are added as soon as the juice floats on the surface. The cabbage must be seasoned with a few grains of coriander, juniper berries, etc. When the barrel is full it must be put in a dry cellar, covered with cloth, under a plank, and on this heavy weights are placed. At the end of a few days it will begin to ferment, during which time the pickle must be drawn off and replaced by fresh, until the liquor becomes clear. This should be done every day. Renew the cloth and wash the cover, put the weight back and let stand for a month. By that time the sauerkraut will be ready for use. Care must be taken to let the least air possible enter the sauerkraut, and to have the cover perfectly clean. Each time the barrel has to be opened it must be properly closed again. These precautions must not be neglected.

—Mr. John Kerstetter, Jr., still makes a business of doing special jobs at carpentry. John is really an expert at the business and has large experince, both in making out plans, specifications and drawings, as well as a practical workman. People who entrust their work into his hands can safely rely on having it done in best style at the lowest prices. tf

THE COLONEL AND THE CAT.

Col. Tom Clark, of Brooklyn, once owned a cat on which he showered all the affection of his bachelor heart. And the shower took the place of a pound of mince meat every day. One morning the Colonel noticed that his feline namesake had wasted away to a were skeleton, and immediately he summoned his boy Bill to appear before the bar. 'Didn't I tell you to give that cat a pound of meat every day ?' asked the Colonel. 'Yes, sir, and that's what I give him every morning before you're out of bed,' answered Bill. 'I don't believe a word of it. My opinion is that you either pocket the money or eat the meat yourself. Bring me the scales and the cat.' The scales and cat were brought; the latter was placed on the former and Tom and the maker stopped at the one-pound mark. 'There,' exclaimed the boy in triumph. 'Didn't I tell you I gave him a pound of meat this morning ?' 'There's the pound of meat sure enough,' said the Colonel, stroking his chin. 'But where the devil's the cat ?'

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER

To All Wating Employment.

We want Live, Energetic an Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent. profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents, and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every houseowner, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear, and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or General Agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days, and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more that double the amount we guarranteed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to every one out of employment who will send us three one-cent stamps (or postage Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will loose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR

For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and ACUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.
